YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES. Topic: "A Work for Me and a Work for You." 1 Cor. xii, 1-12.

The topic universal for the different young people's societies to-morrow evening is, "A Work for Me and a Work for You," founded on I Corinthians, xii, 1-12. The topic is designed to be a missionary one, and in some denominational circles special attention will be given to the mission boards.

But the thefine of the apostle in this chapter is, "Spiritual Gifts," but of course the ultimate end of all gifts bestowed is that of special effort for the advancement of the klagdom of Christ. And so in the opening verse the apostle says, "Now, concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant." And after calling the attention of the Corintbian Church to their former spiritual condition, adds: "Wherefore I give you to understand that no man speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Jesus accursed; and that no man can signed to be a missionary one, and in some eth Jesus accursed; and that no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost

Ghost.

It appears that in the Corinthian Church there had arisen considerable fealousy between those who had been caled to positions of prominence, specially in the line of public teaching. One said, "I am of Paul," another said, "I am of Caphas," and still another, "I am of Caphas," and still another, "I am of Caphas," and still another, "I am of Carist. This spirit the apostic consures sharply in the opening chapters of this book, and here he atempts to show the utter folly of such fealousy. He gives them to understand that the relation which cach teacher sustains to Christ is the great standard by which they are to be judged. If one calls Christ "anathema," then he is a faise teacher. But if one declares "that Jesus is the Lord," then he is to be received as a loyal teacher of the truth.

DIVERSITY IN UNITY—Passing from This preliminary truth, the apostic next

Temple Israel has arranged for "memorial services" to-metrow at 18:20 a. m., with special reference to Ransom Post, G. A. R. "Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gifts."

I'NITY OF THE CHURCH—The closing thought of the lessen is reference to the unity of the Spirit: "For as the hody is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body, so also is Christ." This is in accord with the intercessory prayer of Christ, "that they all may be one, as thou Father art in me, that they all may be one in us." It is idle to talk about external organic unity, but it is a perfectly feasible thing to declare for essential unity in the Spirit. The watchword of the church universal is to-day as never before "in essentials, unity; in all things charity." Federation and co-operation is the Twentieth Century motto.
